My library's Leveled Reader kits have been the perfect bridge between school and the public library since we started up in 2014. Between Diane's ability to do the legwork of putting each kit together, and the expert opinions of the reading specialists at the local school district, we were able to create a collection that suits everyone's needs! We go through Level 24/M at my library, at which point most kids are ready to jump on over to chapter books to continue their reading journey. Parents love that they can find something tangible to assist reading progress at home, teachers love that they can direct parents to our collection and select the just-right level under their guidance, and kids can't get enough of those Danny books.
